WHAT HAS BEEN DONE

Detective Huckle Gave His Report Last Night.

THE CAUSE IS MOVING ALONG

Progress Made In the Social Purity Movement—A Review of Events Since the Movement Started—A Big Audience Heard the Ministers and Their Agent Tell All About It at the First U. P. Church.

Despite the bitterly cold weather of last night, the First U. P. church was filled with an attentive and deeply interested audience of representative good citizens, eager to hear the stalwart and courageous ministers of the Gospel of this city—good men and true—in their defense of and advocacy of the right, and to listen to a summing up of affairs, to date, in connection with the work and duty performed by the Good Citizen's league, as given by Detective William G. Huckle.

Reverend Taggart opened the services with the announcement of an appropriate selection of song from the 86th psalm, nicely rendered by the choir, under the direction of Professor Gotschall. Then followed a second selection from the 145th psalm, followed by prayer by Reverend Huffer.

Reverend Taggart then read the 13th chapter of Paul's epistle to the Romans, following it with the first epistle of Corinthians, 13th chapter, and then came a charming selection of song by the choir. Then the chairman announced the object of the meeting, as called by the proper committee—called for the purpose of showing that the Good Citizens league had entered on its work as a work of love, and not a work of persecution or prosecution, but a work for the saving of bad men and bad women; but, in case bad men and bad women in this city are wedded to evil and evil habits, then, for the good of the city, these bad men and bad women should be driven from this city. Then came William G. Huckle's address, as follows:

Huckle's Address.

"MR. PRESIDENT, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—I suppose I am expected to give an account of my stewardship tonight, and I assure you it is with considerable pleasure I do so. You will perhaps remember that, a few evenings prior to our last meeting in the Methodist Episcopal church, there was a puny effort made to hold an indignation meeting, over which the mayor presided, and a number of the city officials were ranged against us. But today the position is reversed—the mayor, president of council, chief of police and every other reputable officer of the city admit that our work is of sterling quality, and has done much to prevent the progress of vice and immorality. One daily paper in this city has done yeoman service in the cause of right, law, order, purity and truth, and rightly deserves the warmest commendation of all true men and women, while the other daily has advocated illegal liquor selling, gambling, vice, immorality and dens of ill fame, and should be banished from every home where dwells honor, truth, integrity and virtue. You will remember that, at the meeting in the Methodist Episcopal church, I spoke of the burglar's kit of tools, stating that amongst them could be found a jimmy. But in the corner of the burglar's bag will be found another article. It is chiefly used for sneak thieving and assists the burglar in scaling walls. It has a hook attached to it, so that the sneak thief can climb up it by means of the knots in it, and he is thus enabled to get into windows; or, for instance, into an office and steal—well, memoranda belonging to other than himself. Now, if you ask the burglar what that article is, he will reply, 'why that's my cord.'"

"So much by way of introduction. Now, what has been accomplished during the past six weeks? For six years there existed a notorious house of ill fame, kept by an equally notorious and infamous woman, sometimes called Ann Houser; at other times Ann Wilson, Ann Steiner, and at other times Ann Molter. This house was within the city limits. It was Ann Houser's open boast that no one dared attack her. She told me that the city officials dare not prosecute her. The state law made it criminal for her to keep such a house. Your city ordinance demands the suppression of all such houses, and further says that every officer must report to the chief of police any and every such house upon his beat, and that he shall also furnish the chief with the names of the men frequenting these places. Have such reports been made to the chief? If not, then the officers have proved unworthy of trust. If the ordinance has been complied with, why have not the keepers and the frequenters of these houses been prosecuted? An answer to these questions should be demanded by the citizens of East Liverpool.

"Attorney Brookes said, in his summing-up speech in Long John Whan's case: 'Huckle was not to be commended or praised for closing Ann Houser's house, for it could have been pulled and Ann Houser convicted any day in the year—or 365 days in the year.' This is what Jason Brookes says; and unless he lied, which I don't think he did, he gave a righteous and well merited rebuke to the officials of this city. Ann Houser says her property on the Lisbon road is worth $3,000. The Houser house stands there as a monument of all that is vicious and immoral, representing the gains of prostitution and villainy.

"When this infamous woman knew I had determined to stop her nefarious trade, even though I had to prosecute her, she took out a warrant for my arrest on the charge of breaking into her house. The result was to show this vile woman in her true colors. On the day following the trial, a man came to my house, stating he was a government detective and was sent from Cleveland to see me in reference to Ann Houser. He said he was here to get a case against her for illicit whiskey selling, and that he would call upon me again and tell me his plans. I notified Chief Gill of his visit, and I made inquiries and found he was in the employ of certain men in this city to entrap me and 'do' me. On the next day (Friday) he again came to see me, and said he had been up to the Houser den the night previous, and had hid himself in the wash house and watched till two men came and entered the house; he then looked under the window shade and saw them all drinking whiskey. Some time after, they left, and said they would come up the following night, and that Ann replied 'all right, I will have Emma up,' and they said they would bring two more fellows up with them. After telling me this fairly tale, this so-called government detective asked me to go up to Ann's that night with him, at 9:45, so we could catch them. He inquired if I carried a revolver. I told him I never went out without one, and that if my life was in danger I should not hesitate to shoot. He begged me not to take it with me, as if anything wrong turned up I might shoot some one, and then he never would forgive himself. I asked him what he thought about my getting two or three fellows to go with us, but he very quickly replied, 'oh no, don't take any one.' He left me with the understanding that I was to meet him on the Lisbon road at 9:45 that night. I again communicated with Chief Gill and Mayor Gilbert, and they both at once said, 'it is a plot to get you up there and 'do' you.' We made arrangements for the evening. A few minutes past 7, Officers Earle and Jennings made their way to the Houser den and secreted themselves nearby. About 9:45 I met the sham detective at the appointed place. Chief Gill was at this point, and, unobserved by the fraud I was with, followed us up. Just before we got to the Houser den, three fellows came toward us, cursing and swearing. The fellow who was with me got away about a dozen yards, and the three cowardly ruffians surrounded me and threatened my life, using the most vile language imaginable; but as I had saw me reach for my guns, for I had two good, trusty weapons with me, they were afraid to attempt an assault upon me. I caught up to the sham detective and kept him till Chief Gill came up and had a good look at him. He promised to see me again on the following Tuesday, but he never came back any more. We then made our way to Houser's house, where we came across Earle and Jennings. They said the three fellows had been waiting about for me for about two hours, and that Ann Houser and her companion in vice, Maggie Hillar, were upon the porch nearby the whole of the time, presumably watching for Huckle to come upon the scene; but the play never came off. There was to have been a tragedy, but there was nothing but a screaming farce, which ended in Murray, the cowardly prize fighter, having a box all to himself in the mayor's theatre. He never asked where or when the offense took place, but pleaded guilty, and he was kept in durance vile till that noble hearted, good citizen, Joe Geon, of the Senate saloon, in the Diamond, proved his love of law and order by going down to city hall and paying simple Peter's fine.

Ann Wilson was arrested and pleaded not guilty. This compelled me to subpoena, as witnesses, men of position in the city, who were frequenters of the Houser den. I gave ten names to the mayor, including, as the Crisis admits, the names of prominent citizens. I kept six names back, as I did not wish to expose, unnecessarily, men who could not be exposed without bringing disgrace upon their families and breaking up their homes, which I object to doing at any time, especially at this season of the year. The six names I kept back were those of some of the most prominent men in the city. I gave the names of these men to Doctor Taggart, as president of this society.

"Why did Ann, the modern Magdalene, alter her plea from not guilty to guilty? I suppose she did it on the advice of Attorney Brookes; at least, Jason the eloquent said so. But as soon as it was known who I should put upon the witness stand, and ask them what they know about the den of infamy on the Lisbon road, it was at once decided that Ann should alter her plea. It was a noble act on gentle Annie's part to plead guilty and so save those who for years have been violating their marriage vows, and living lives of vice and sin. It would be interesting to know who paid the fine and costs in Ann's case; and what an interesting time those men of social position would have had with the wives they were pledged before God to love and cherish, but who have done all they could to blast and destroy, had the Lisbon road Magdalene insisted on her plea of not guilty.

"Ann Houser was fined the enormous sum of $15. Attorney Brookes stated, on Monday last, that Ann Houser's place had been a house of ill fame for six years, and had been a curse all that time, and yet she was let off with a fine of $15. I wonder if it was a result of her pleading guilty. Mayor Gilbert excused the smallness of the fine by saying I had waited six weeks before taking out the warrant. Now the mayor knew why we did not proceed before; he knew that we wanted to give her every opportunity to show she had become a Christian, and that she had really given up her vicious life. But we were compelled to come to the conclusion, forced upon us by her own actions, that she was not sincere; neither had she forsaken her shameful life. That was the reason why we did not proceed against her before, and the mayor knew this full well.

"Please note the next case—also note the amount of fine inflicted: I make no comment upon it, but leave you to draw your own conclusions. On Christmas eve I had the Ackley house raided. We found Lizzie Ackley and a man there; they were arrested and the man was fined $7.00; the woman, who certainly, with all her faults and sin, had not led such an infamous life as Ann Houser, was fined $25 and costs. Why such a difference in the fines, I ask? The Ackley woman had not been before the authorities before and had to pay $25 and costs, while the Houser woman, who was known for her vicious life throughout several counties, and who had been sent to the workhouse for eight months for a similar offense, was fined the paltry amount of $15. Comment is needless.

"I also took out a warrant for Maggie Hillar, an inmate of the Houser den, but she skipped the state, and should she ever return she will be arrested forthwith.

"I also took out a warrant for Helvie Yeager, an inmate of the Ackley house; she also left the city in double quick time and should she ever return she must stand trial.

"Then there was Emma Harris, of Duby notoriety, who was also an inmate of the Houser den. She gave the name of Emma Edwards and became penitent when she owed three weeks board at the Second street saloon. She then went to Mr. Hodgson, and he put her case in the hands of two good Christian women. They went to see her and offered, if she would give up her infamous way of living, to take care of her 'till she could get something to do; but they could see she was not sincere, so I had her arrested. I found out that she was no other than the infamous Emma Harris, who was in the Duby when that celebrated raid was made."

"I wonder if the Crisis, or some one in the front office of that paper, will do me the favor of giving the names of some of the men who were arrested with Emma Harris. I have heard it said that the officers found a burglar's tool during the raid. Can anyone say if it is true? Of course this is only rumor; but rumor is not always a liar.

"After shedding tears in crocodile fashion, Emma pleaded guilty, and said she had no money to pay a fine. Mayor Gilbert asked me what I had to say. I said that if Emma would be willing to place herself in the ladies' hands, or would promise to go home, I would not press the charge, and that if she would go to her friends in Trenton, I would furnish her with a ticket for that city. She said she would go to Trenton, and the mayor liberated her 'till 1 o'clock the next day, when she was to appear again before him. Reverend Whitehead and myself went to the city hall at the time appointed, and she then said she had changed her mind and would rather be turned over to the ladies. I took her to the ladies and they arranged to care for her. That same night she went to Mayor Gilbert and asked him if he would get me to send her home, as the ladies would not allow her to receive her gentleman friend at the house where she was boarded. Now, this woman Harris is a married woman, parted from her husband, and because the ladies were not willing to allow this vicious creature to continue receiving the visits of an evilly disposed man, she wanted to go home. The mayor thought the city would be purer if she went away, and he advised me to send her away. I purchased her a ticket, gave her a little money and a basket of provisions, and saw her on the train for Trenton. The case was not disposed of, and if ever she comes back to the city she will be arrested.

"I went to the Ackley house a month before I had it pulled. I told them I had sufficient evidence to convict them, but that all we wanted was for them to give up the life and I would be responsible for their rent and see they all three had plenty to eat, 'till they could get work to do. Just one word right here. A certain lawyer in this city rents the house to these Ackley people. Did he not know to what purpose the place was put? Has he, since the trial and conviction, given them notice to quit? If not, why not?

"Now a word about Saloonist Thompson, who has recently returned from Lisbon city. I had him arrested for violating the screen ordinance. Mayor Gilbert gave me his word, not a month ago, that he would grant no jury trial unless it was a jail offense. Yet I am told that Thompson demanded a jury trial and that Mayor Gilbert has granted a jury trial. If this is true, then the mayor has gone back on his word.

"Next comes case of Harry Hughes, the Fourth street saloonist, for selling on the Sabbath day. I caused his arrest and am ready with my evidence.

"Now comes the screaming farce of the season. The trial of Long John Whan; trial, forsooth—yes, trial by jury—it was a double barreled jury. There was council, which sat as a jury, and there was the jury that was committed on the stand. The president, Doctor Marshall, acted fairly in his rulings; but I certainly gave him credit for better sense than to vote upon the verdict. Officer Whan is Doctor Marshall's first cousin, and you will all remember the determined efforts he made to get him on the force last spring, and how at last he placed him there. Some of you know that Doctor Marshall considers himself under obligations to Whan. Now all this taken into account, shows extreme bad taste on his part in sitting in judgment upon a man to whom he was so closely allied, both by blood and interest. It is certain Doctor Marshall would never have been allowed to sit upon an ordinary jury. But then, you know, this was an extraordinary one.

I brought four separate charges against Whan, but they decided to go on with the first charge only, as the defense claimed they had not sufficient notification in reference to the other cases. It was said that a complete and thorough investigation would be made. I gave the 6th of Nov. as a definite and specific date, and expected that, as in any other case, evidence as to other dates would be admitted. But Attorney Brookes proved his ardent desire for a thorough investigation, so as to clear the character of his client, by refusing to allow any evidence outside of the 6th of Nov. to be introduced. I think that is a queer way of clearing a man's character; what do you think? Suppose they had proved that John was not up at the Houser den on the 6th, which they admitted he was; but supposing he was not there on that date, Chief Gill stated, upon oath, that he had spoken to Whan in the summer about visiting the Houser house, and Whan himself admitted, upon oath, that he had visited Ann Houser early in the summer. I also stated upon oath that I saw him enter the Houser house early in Oct., and that he was at the Houser den on Nov. 4, 1895. They did not deny this, but refused to admit evidence only in reference to the 6th, and then they say John Whan is clear.

"It was admitted on all sides that Houser's den was a house of ill fame on Saturday Nov. 2, 1895; but they claimed that on Nov. 6, 1895, the house had changed its character, and the leopard had changed her spots. This was done because Whan had no

IT WAS A HOT FIRE

And the Cold Weather Made Life Miserable

FOR HARD WORKING FIREMEN

The Livery Stable of John Rinehart Destroyed This Morning—The Cause Not Yet Located—Loss $12,000—A Hard Time for the Firemen, Who Almost Consigned the Flames to the Building.

The livery stable of John Rinehart was destroyed by fire this morning soon after 6 o'clock, and the firemen suffered severely because of the cold.

It is not known how the fire originated, there being several stories afloat, but it is known that the rear of the building was in flames when the blaze was discovered, and an alarm was at once sounded. The big bell on city hall refused to do its duty, and all the firemen did not arrive on time, but they got there before it was all over, and worked with a will. Several lines of hose were laid in short order, and seven streams were soon playing on the flames. When an attempt was made to attach a line to the plug in front of the Croxall pottery the top broke off, and the firemen were compelled to look elsewhere for water. The pressure, however, was good, and without it the flames could not have been kept in bounds.

Soon after the fire started there was a wild scene of excitement, the tenants of the upper part of the building running about and shouting for help. The family of George Haney were gotten out, but few household effects were saved. Mrs. Lewis another tenant is very ill with typhoid fever, and it was necessary to move her to a house nearby. Sally Wynne, the nurse, fell down stairs during the excitement, but was not badly hurt. The family of Henry Gepple were gotten out in safety, but the smoke had become so thick in the building that the Haney children were dropped over the balcony, and were caught by a Mr. Schneider in the street. Meantime smoke had filled the Brozka building next door, and people there were moving out as soon as possible. Furniture was broken and mashed, and a great deal was left to the flames, Frank McCuen and his family moved out without injury to any, but Henry Brozka was overcome by smoke when he entered the building and was immediately brought out. While this was happening the flames were making great headway in the stable proper. The upper part was well filled with hay and other feed, and it burned and writhed like a furnace, the flames leaping high in the air, and causing a scene which brought many people to the spot. Chief Adam and his men worked with a will, but there were many things against them, the cold being the enemy which caused the most suffering. Firemen roasted on one side, and froze on the other, and the lines of hose were covered with ice. Long icicles hung to the firemen's clothes, and yet they battled without a thought of giving up the struggle. At length Barney Peterson wavered, and was about to fall when he was caught, and supported until the patrol wagon could take him to the station. Tony Bertele also went down overcome, and was soon followed by W. P. Brookes, a member of the Wellsville department who works in this city, and was giving what aid he could. They were removed to the station, and put to bed, medical attention being summoned at once. George Grosshans had his ears frozen at the fire and Chief Adam felt the cold severely. Every fireman suffered, but not a man gave up until it was impossible for him to longer endure it. The cold made fighting fire a difficult task.

The building was destroyed, and nothing remains but the brick walls, and they are not worth much to anyone. All the vehicles were saved, and the horses escaped with their lives. The Brozka building was damaged, and a loss of perhaps $1,500, covered by insurance, was sustained. The place was filled with smoke and Frank McCuen, who lived in the second story, lost all he had. Rinehart's loss will be in the neighborhood of $12,000 with $6,000 insurance. The contents were not insured, and the feed destroyed is a total loss. This is the third time he has been burned out.

The cause of the fire remains a mystery, and nothing could be learned that is definite. One story is that a fire was kindled in a room on the second story for the purpose of thawing a water pipe and the conflagration resulted from that, and another is that it came from the mow, but how it started there is a mystery.

the Crisis admits, the names of prominent citizens. I kept six names back, as I did not wish to expose, unnecessarily, men who could not be exposed without bringing disgrace upon their families and breaking up their homes, which I object to doing at any time, especially at this season of the year. The six names I kept back were those of some of the most prominent men in the city. I gave the names of these men to Doctor Taggart, as president of this society.

"Why did Ann, the modern Magdalene, after her plea from not guilty to guilty? I suppose she did it on the advice of Attorney Brookes; at least, Jason the eloquent said so. But as soon as it was known who I should put upon the witness stand, and ask them what they knew about the den of infamy on the Lisbon road, it was at once decided that Ann should alter her plea. It was a noble act on gentle Annie's part to plead guilty and so save those who for years have been violating their marriage vows, and living lives of vice and sin. It would be interesting to know who paid the fine and costs in Ann's case; and what an interesting time those men of social position would have had with the wives they were pledged before God to love and cherish, but who have done all they could to blast and destroy, had the Lisbon road Magdalene insisted on her plea of not guilty.

"Ann Houser was fined the enormous sum of $15. Attorney Brookes stated, on Monday last, that Ann Houser's place had been a house of ill fame for six years, and had been a curse all that time, and yet she was let off with a fine of $15. I wonder if it was a result of her pleading guilty. Mayor Gilbert excused the smallness of the fine by saying I had waited six weeks before taking out the warrant. Now the mayor knew why we did not proceed before; he knew that we wanted to give her every opportunity to show she had become a Christian, and that she had really given up her vicious life. But we were compelled to come to the conclusion, forced upon us by her own actions, that she was not sincere; neither had she forsaken her shameful life. That was the reason why we did not proceed against her before, and the mayor knew this full well.

"Please note the next case—also note the amount of fine inflicted: I make no comment upon it, but leave you to draw your own conclusions. On Christmas eve I had the Ackley house raided. We found Lizzie Ackley and a man there; they were arrested, and the man was fined $7.00; the woman, who certainly, with all her faults and sin, had not led such an infamous life as Ann Houser, was fined $25 and the costs. Why such a difference in the fines, I ask? The Ackley woman had not been before the authorities before and had to pay $25 and costs, while the Houser woman, who was known for her vicious life throughout several counties, and who had been sent to the workhouse for eight months for a similar offense, was fined the paltry amount of $15. Comment is needless.

"I also took out a warrant for Maggie Hillar, an inmate of the Houser den, but she skipped the state, and should she ever return she will be arrested forthwith.

"I also took out a warrant for Helvie Yeager, an inmate of the Ackley house; she also left the city in double quick time and should she ever return she must stand trial.

"Then there was Emma Harris, of Duby notoriety, who was also an inmate of the Houser den. She gave the name of Emma Edwards and became penitent when she owed three weeks board at the Second street saloon. She then went to Mr. Hodgson, and he put her case in the hands of two good Christian women. They went to see her and offered, if she would give up her infamous way of living, to take care of her 'till she could get something to do; but they could see she was not sincere, so I had her arrested. I found out that she was no other than the infamous Emma Harris, who was in the Duby when that celebrated raid was made."

"I wonder if the Crisis, or some one in the front office of that paper, will do me the favor of giving the names of some of the men who were arrested with Emma Harris. I have heard it said that the officers found a burglar's tool during the raid. Can anyone say if it is true? Of course this is only rumor; but rumor is not always a liar.

"After shedding tears in crocodile fashion, Emma pleaded guilty, and said she had no money to pay a fine. Mayor Gilbert asked me what I had to say. I said that if Emma would be willing to place herself in the ladies' hands, or would promise to go home, I would not press the charge, and that if she would go to her friends in Trenton, I would furnish her with a ticket for that city. She said she would go to Trenton, and the mayor liberated her 'till 1 o'clock the next day, when she was to appear again before him. Reverend Whitehead and myself went to the city hall at the time appointed, and she then said she had changed her mind and would rather be turned over to the ladies. I took her to the ladies and they arranged to care for her. That same night she went to Mayor Gilbert and asked him if he would get me to send her home, as the ladies would not allow her to receive her gentleman friend at the house where she was boarded. Now, this woman Harris is a married woman, parted from her husband, and because the ladies were not willing to allow this vicious creature to continue receiving the visits of an evilly disposed man, she wanted to go home. The mayor thought the city would be purer if she went away, and he advised me to send her away. I purchased her a ticket, gave her a little money and a basket of provisions, and saw her on the train for Trenton. The case was not disposed of, and if ever she comes back to the city she will be arrested.

"I went to the Ackley house a month before I had it pulled. I told them I had sufficient evidence to convict them, but that all we wanted was for them to give up the life and I would be responsible for their rent and see they all three had plenty to eat, 'till they could get work to do. Just one word right here. A certain lawyer in this city rents the house to these Ackley people. Did he not know to what purpose the place was put? Has he, since the trial and conviction, given them notice to quit? If not, why not?"

"Now a word about Saloonist Thompson, who has recently returned from Lisbon city. I had him arrested for violating the screen ordinance. Mayor Gilbert gave me his word, not a month ago, that he would grant no jury trial unless it was a jail offense. Yet I am told that Thompson demanded a jury trial and that Mayor Gilbert has granted a jury trial. If this is true, then the mayor has gone back on his word.

"Next comes case of Harry Hughes, the Fourth street saloonist, for selling on the Sabbath day. I caused his arrest and am ready with my evidence.

"Now comes the screaming farce of the season. The trial of Long John Whan; trial, forsooth—yes, trial by jury—it was a double barreled jury. There was council, which sat as a jury, and there was the jury that was committed on the stand. The president, Doctor Marshall, acted fairly in his rulings; but I certainly gave him credit for better sense than to vote upon the verdict. Officer Whan is Doctor Marshall's first cousin, and you will all remember the determined efforts he made to get him on the force last spring, and how at last he placed him there. Some of you know that Doctor Marshall considers himself under obligations to Whan. Now all this taken into account, shows extreme bad taste on his part in sitting in judgment upon a man to whom he was so closely allied, both by blood and interest. It is certain Doctor Marshall would never have been allowed to sit upon an ordinary jury. But then, you know, this was an extraordinary one.

I brought four separate charges against Whan, but they decided to go on with the first charge only, as the defense claimed they had not sufficient notification in reference to the other cases. It was said that a complete and thorough investigation would be made. I gave the 6th of Nov. as a definite and specific date, and expected that, as in any other case, evidence as to other dates would be admitted. But Attorney Brookes proved his ardent desire for a thorough investigation, so as to clear the character of his client, by refusing to allow any evidence outside of the 6th of Nov. to be introduced. I think that is a queer way of clearing a man's character; what do you think? Supposed they had proved that John was not up at the Houser den on the 6th, which they admitted he was; but supposing he was not there on that date, Chief Gill stated, upon oath, that he had spoken to Whan in the summer about visiting the Houser house, and Whan himself admitted, upon oath, that he had visited Ann Houser early in the summer. I also stated upon oath that I saw him enter the Houser house early in Oct., and that he was at the Houser den on Nov. 4, 1895. They did not deny this, but refused to admit evidence only in reference to the 6th, and then they say John Whan is clear.

"It was admitted on all sides that Houser's den was a house of ill fame on Saturday Nov. 2, 1895; but they claimed that on Nov. 6, 1895, the house had changed its character, and the leopard had changed her spots. This was done because Whan had no

And the Cold Weather Made Life Miserable

FOR HARD WORKING FIREMEN

The Livery Stable of John Rinehart Destroyed This Morning—The Cause Not Yet Located—Loss $12,000—A Hard Time for the Firemen, Who Almost Confined the Flames to the Building.

The livery stable of John Rinehart was destroyed by fire this morning soon after 6 o'clock, and the firemen suffered severely because of the cold.

It is not known how the fire originated, there being several stories afloat, but it is known that the rear of the building was in flames when the blaze was discovered, and an alarm was at once sounded. The big bell on city hall refused to do its duty, and all the firemen did not arrive on time, but they got there before it was all over, and worked with a will. Several lines of hose were laid in short order, and seven streams were soon playing on the flames. When an attempt was made to attach a line to the plug in front of the Croxall pottery the top broke off, and the firemen were compelled to look elsewhere for water. The pressure, however, was good, and without it the flames could not have been kept in bounds.

Soon after the fire started there was a wild scene of excitement, the tenants of the upper part of the building running about and shouting for help. The family of George Haney were gotten out, but few household effects were saved. Mrs. Lewis another tenant is very ill with typhoid fever, and it was necessary to move her to a house nearby. Sally Wynne, the nurse, fell down stairs during the excitement, but was not badly hurt. The family of Henry Gepple were gotten out in safety, but the smoke had become so thick in the building that the Haney children were dropped over the balcony, and were caught by a Mr. Schneider in the street. Meantime smoke had filled the Brozka building next door, and people there were moving out as soon as possible. Furniture was broken and smashed, and a great deal was left to the flames. Frank McCuen and his family moved out without injury to any, but Henry Brozka was overcome by smoke when he entered the building and was immediately brought out. While this was happening the flames were making great headway in the stable proper. The upper part was well filled with hay and other feed, and it burned and writhed like a furnace, the flames leaping high in the air, and causing a scene which brought many people to the spot. Chief Adam and his men worked with a will, but there were many things against them, the cold being the enemy which caused the most suffering. Firemen roasted on one side, and froze on the other, and the lines of hose were covered with ice. Long icicles hung to the firemen's clothes, and yet they battled without a thought of giving up the struggle. At length Barney Peterson wavered, and was about to fall when he was caught, and supported until the patrol wagon could take him to the station. Tony Bertele also went down overcome, and was soon followed by W. P. Brookes, a member of the Wellsville department who works in this city, and was giving what aid he could. They were removed to the station, and put to bed, medical attention being summoned at once. George Grosshans had his ears frozen at the fire and Chief Adam felt the cold severely. Every fireman suffered, but not a man gave up until it was impossible for him to longer endure it. The cold made fighting fire a difficult task.

The building was destroyed, and nothing remains but the brick walls, and they are not worth much to anyone. All the vehicles were saved, and the horses escaped with their lives. The Brozka building was damaged, and a loss of perhaps $1,500, covered by insurance, was sustained. The place was filled with smoke and Frank McCuen, who lived in the second story, lost all he had. Rinehart's loss will be in the neighborhood of $12,000, with $6,000 insurance. The contents were not insured, and the feed destroyed is a total loss. This is the third time he has been burned out.

The cause of the fire remains a mystery, and nothing could be learned that is definite. One story is that a fire was kindled in a room on the second story for the purpose of thawing a water pipe and the conflagration resulted from that, and another is that it came from the mow, but how it started there is a mystery.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., SATURDAY, JAN. 4.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
Of Ohio.

The Canton workhouse has sprung into notoriety again and the dogs were sent after an escaped prisoner. From a distance it seems they need a new system at that stone pile.

They say in Columbus that the sentiment for a session of the legislature next year is growing. This is wrong, and should be crushed out.
The Republicans have promised, and the party can not afford to break its word.

POTTERY PROSPECTS.

East Liverpool begins the new year
imbued with that spirit of enterprise which never fails to win. There was sufficient trade during the fall of last year to warrant continued operations at all of the potteries, and the city in consequence was benefited. The employes worked at the rate of wages forced upon them by the Democratic tariff measure, and the manufacturers did not amass fortunes from the business done, but it was a condition infinitely better than that which prevailed in the preceding year. The adopting of the English selling scale
was undoubtedly the wisest move ever made in the pottery trade, since it gave the only possible advantage, if advantage it can be called, that could be obtained. It returned to the American manufacturers the trade they needed, and showed that with the price on the same basis they can compete with England or any other nation, thus proving again that the tariff is simply a question of wages for the workmen and profit for the capitalist. With the same conditions existing, there is no reason to believe that trade will not be as good during the spring as it was in the fall, and that is the opinion of conservative
men. No one will make much money, but the factories will be kept constantly in operation. Should a panic or some other great calamity befall
the nation, East Liverpool will suffer with the rest. However, there is nothing so serious in sight, and there is every reason to believe that business will be good during, at least, the first half of the year.

THE AUXILIARY.

The Ladies Elect Officers—A Splendid Report.

The auxiliary to the Young Men's Christian association met in executive session yesterday and elected the following officers, to serve the ensuing year: President, Mrs. John Clements;
vice president, Mrs. Charles Hard; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Grey; secretary, Miss Bell Azdell. Routine business developed the fact that the Auxiliary now has a membership of 160.
The report of the late treasurer, Mrs.
George Matheny, shows that she received and disbursed, during her term
of office of two and one-half years, about $2,000. The lady's accounts were kept in first-class shape, demonstrating the fact that the Auxiliary made no mistake in electing her to office. Her successor, Mrs. Clarence Grey, is an intelligent, earnest worker, and the position could not be placed in better hands. Mrs. John Clements, the newly elected president, has been an earnest and effective worker in the Auxiliary, and she will do her part in holding the organization up to the highest standard. Mrs. Charles Hard, vice president, brings splendid business traits and qualifications into her office, and the officials will find her a power for good. Miss Bell Azdell will prove a model secretary, and the books of the organization will receive careful and intelligent consideration. The News Review, in common with a host of friends of the Auxiliary, wishes
the organization unlimited success during the year of 1896.

Electric Bitters.
Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt.
A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal illnesses. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Fifty cents and $1 per bottle at the W. & W. drug store.

Ladies Auxiliary.
The members of the physical culture classes will now resume drill, after the holiday vacation. The old hours of exercise will still hold sway. Tuesday, January 7, will be the first meeting. By order

WAR SCARE EXPOSED

By Supreme President Traynor
of the A. P. A.

A CONSPIRACY OF PRIESTS.

President Cleveland and Plutocrats to Cause War, So They Can Accomplish
Their Aims—Catholic Church Organizing an Army to Gain the Ascendancy.

DETROIT, Jan. 4.—W. J. H. Traynor, the supreme president of the American Protective association, today issued to the councils of the order throughout the country a circular of nearly 8,000 words, reviewing the progress of the organization and the political situation. Mr. Traynor states in his circular that a large number of the members of congress are also members of the
A. P. A., pledged to a number of measures he enumerates.

Mr. Traynor reviews presidential possibilities and attacks President Cleveland in these words: "It is doing no injustice to Mr. Cleveland to assert that if the United States had been a papal country and the pope a temporal sovereign, our president could not have given more recognition to the papacy as a temporal power than he has during his present term of office, commencing with his obsequious present of a magnificently bound edition of the American constitution to the pope and concluding with the disgraceful promotion of Colonel Coppinger, who is worthy of notice only, and that notoriously, as a fervent adherent of the pope of Rome and ardent admirer of papal institutions."

Allison and Reed come in for a fair share of condemnation for what Mr.
Traynor alleges as their pro-papal attitude and their antagonism to the patriotic orders. He presents the names of
Hon. W. S. Linton of Michigan, Senator John H. Gear of Iowa, Governor
W. O. Bradley of Kentucky and ex-President Harrison as worthy of the support of the A. P. A. He affirms that in the event of any indication of the Republican party "trucking to Rome" that a "new party should and must be the result."

He criticizes Chairman Carter of the National Republican committee and Harriett of the Democratic committee as uncompromising papists. Traynor declares that the movement for the arming and drilling of Irishmen in this country is a sinister movement of the Roman Catholic church to mobilize a Catholic army in the republic to supplement the moral force of the church to secure ascendancy when the nation shall be involved in a crisis such as a war or rebellion.

He upholds the Monroe doctrine but denounces the war scare as the result of a conspiracy between the president, the priests and plutocrats; the first to secure re-election; the second to gain ascendancy while the nation is involved in war with a foreign country, and the last to profit by bond issues at war rates of interest upon a gold interest bearing basis.

SATOLLI'S FORMAL ELEVATION.

He Becomes a Fullfledged Cardinal at Baltimore Tomorrow.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 4.—All arrangements have been completed for the ceremonies which will take place at the cathedral on Sunday morning in connection with the elevation of Archbishop Satolli to the rank of a cardinal of the Catholic church. This afternoon the archbishop came over from his residence at Washington and will spend the night at St. Mary's seminary. With him came his official household.

He was appointed on Nov. 30 and as soon as practicable thereafter official notice of the appointment was brought to this country by the Marquis Sacri-panti, who also brought the zucchetto, a skull cap of cardinal hue, and the baretta, also of cardinal hue and shaped like a crown. The zucchetto was placed upon the head of the new cardinal in Washington at the time of his official notification, which took place upon the arrival of the papal messenger on Dec.
19, 1895. Cardinal Gibbons was delegated to adorn Cardinal Satolli with the baretta, and this ceremony will be celebrated with great pomp tomorrow morning.

Archbishop Kain of St. Louis will preach the sermon. Many bishops are here to witness the ceremonies. The cathedral is beautifully decorated with flowers.

SPANISH FEARS INCREASE.

They Declare Martial Law in Two Provinces in and About Havana.

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—The authorities
confess the grave condition of affairs by proclaiming martial law for the provinces of Havana and Pinar del Rio. Maximo Gomez has declared his purpose to penetrate into the province of Pinar del Rio. Although his forces have not yet reached the border of that province, the action of the authorities is understood to indicate that they have no hopes of preventing him from carrying out his threat.

It is not only the organized armed force of the advancing insurgents that they find themselves compelled to prepare against. In fact, there is little apprehension that this force could effect much success in an assault upon this city, great as is the damage that they have wrought in the country.
But the irresistible progress of the insurgent army, whither it listeth from one end of the island to the other, has served immensely to increase the boldness of their sympathizers, who have hitherto remained passive non-combatants. If these were to see the occasion for a successful stroke, there is no doubt that great accessions to the insurgent forces would be gained throughout the provinces of Havana and Pinar del Rio, and there are grave fears that an uprising would occur in the city of Havana itself.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., SATURDAY, JAN. 4.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
OF Ohio.

THE Canton workhouse has sprung
into notoriety again and the dogs were sent after an escaped prisoner. From a distance it seems they need a new system at that stone pile.

THEY say in Columbus that the
sentiment for a session of the legislature next year is growing. This is wrong, and should be crushed out.
The Republicans have promised, and
the party can not afford to break its word.

POTTERY PROSPECTS.

East Liverpool begins the new year
imbued with that spirit of enterprise
which never fails to win. There was sufficient trade during the fall of last year to warrant continued operations
at all of the potteries, and the city in consequence was benefited. The employees worked at the rate of wages forced upon them by the Democratic tariff measure, and the manufacturers did not amass fortunes from the business done, but it was a condition
infinitely better than that which prevailed in the preceding year. The
adopting of the English selling scale
was undoubtedly the wisest move ever
made in the pottery trade, since it gave the only possible advantage, if
advantage it can be called, that could be obtained. It returned to the American manufacturers the trade
they needed, and showed that with
the price on the same basis they can compete with England or any other nation, thus proving again that the
tariff is simply a question of wages for
the workmen and profit for the capitalist. With the same conditions existing, there is no reason to believe that trade will not be as good during
the spring as it was in the fall, and
that is the opinion of conservative
men. No one will make much money, but the factories will be kept constantly in operation. Should a panic
or some other great calamity befall
the nation, East Liverpool will suffer with the rest. However, there is nothing so serious in sight, and there is every reason to believe that business will be good during, at least, the first half of the year.

THE AUXILIARY.

The Ladies Elect Officers—A Splendid Report.

The auxiliary to the Young Men's Christian association met in executive session yesterday and elected the following officers: to serve the ensuing year: President, Mrs. John Clements;
vice president, Mrs. Charles Hard; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Grey; secretary, Miss Bell Azdell. Routine business developed the fact that the Auxiliary now has a membership of 160.
The report of the late treasurer, Mrs.
George Matheny, shows that she received and disbursed, during her term
of office of two and one-half years, about $2,000. The lady's accounts were kept in first-class shape, demonstrating the fact that the Auxiliary
made no mistake in electing her to office. Her successor, Mrs. Clarence Grey, is an intelligent, earnest worker,
and the position could not be placed in better hands. Mrs. John Clements,
the newly elected president, has been
an earnest and effective worker in the Auxiliary, and she will do her part in holding the organization up to the highest standard. Mrs. Charles Hard,
vice president, brings splendid business traits and qualifications into her office, and the officials will find her a power for good. Miss Bell Azdell will prove a model secretary, and the books
of the organization will receive careful and intelligent consideration. The News Review, in common with a host of friends of the Auxiliary, wishes
the organization unlimited success
during the year of 1896.

WAR SCARE EXPOSED

By Supreme President Traynor
of the A. P. A.

A CONSPIRACY OF PRIESTS.

President Cleveland and Plutocrats to
Cause War, So They Can Accomplish
Their Aims—Catholic Church Organizing an Army to Gain the Ascendancy.

DETROIT, Jan. 4.—W. J. H. Traynor,
the supreme president of the American Protective association, today issued to
the councils of the order throughout the country a circular of nearly 8,000
words, reviewing the progress of the organization and the political situation. Mr. Traynor states in his circular that a large number of the members of congress are also members of the
A. P. A., pledged to a number of measures he enumerates.

Mr. Traynor reviews presidential possibilities and attacks President Cleveland in these words: "It is doing no injustice to Mr. Cleveland to assert that if the United States had been a papal country and the pope a temporal
sovereign, our president could not have
given more recognition to the papacy
as a temporal power than he has during
his present term of office, commencing
with his obsequious present of a magnificently bound edition of the American constitution to the pope and concluding with the disgraceful promotion
of Colonel Coppinger, who is worthy of notice only, and that notoriously, as a fervent adherent of the pope of Rome
and ardent admirer of papal institutions."

Allison and Reed come in for a fair share of condemnation for what Mr.
Traynor alleges as their pro-papal attitude and their antagonism to the patriotic orders. He presents the names of
Hon. W. S. Linton of Michigan, Senator John H. Gear of Iowa, Governor
W. O. Bradley of Kentucky and ex-President Harrison as worthy of the support of the A. P. A. He affirms
that in the event of any indication of the Republican party "trucking to Rome" that a "new party should and
must be the result."

He criticizes Chairman Carter of the National Republican committee and Harry of the Democratic committee as uncompromising papists. Traynor declares that the movement for the arming and drilling of Irishmen in this country is a sinister movement of the Roman Catholic church to mobilize a Catholic army in the republic to supplement the moral force of the church
to secure ascendancy when the nation
shall be involved in a crisis such as a war or rebellion.

He upholds the Monroe doctrine but
denounces the war scare as the result of a conspiracy between the president,
the priests and plutocrats; the first to
secure re-election; the second to gain
ascendancy while the nation is involved in war with a foreign country, and the last to profit by bond issues at war
rates of interest upon a gold interest
bearing basis.

SATOLLI'S FORMAL ELEVATION.

He Becomes a Fullfledged Cardinal at Baltimore Tomorrow.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 4.—All arrangements have been completed for the
ceremonies which will take place at the cathedral on Sunday morning in connection with the elevation of Archbishop Satolli to the rank of a cardinal
of the Catholic church. This afternoon the archbishop came over from
his residence at Washington and will spend the night at St. Mary's seminary. With him came his official household.

He was appointed on Nov. 30 and as soon as practicable thereafter official notice of the appointment was brought to this country by the Marquis Sacri-panti, who also brought the zucchetto,
a skull cap of cardinal hue, and the beretta, also of cardinal hue and shaped like a crown. The zucchetto was placed upon the head of the new cardinal in Washington at the time of his official notification, which took place upon the arrival of the papal messenger on Dec.
19, 1895. Cardinal Gibbons was delegated to adorn Cardinal Satolli with the beretta, and this ceremony will be celebrated with great pomp tomorrow
morning.

Archbishop Kain of St. Louis will preach the sermon. Many bishops are here to witness the ceremonies. The cathedral is beautifully decorated with flowers.

SPANISH FEARS INCREASE.

They Declare Martial Law in Two Provinces in and about Havana.

HAVANA, Jan. 4.—The authorities
confess the grave condition of affairs
by proclaiming martial law for the provinces of Havana and Pinar del Rio. Maximo Gomez has declared his purpose to penetrate into the province
of Pinar del Rio. Although his forces
have not yet reached the border of that
province, the action of the authorities
is understood to indicate that they have no hopes of preventing him from
carrying out his threat.

It is not only the organized armed
force of the advancing insurgents that they find themselves compelled to prepare against. In fact, there is little apprehension that this force could
effect much success in an assault upon
this city, great as is the damage that they have wrought in the country.
But the irresistible progress of the insurgent army, whither it listeth from one end of the island to the other, has served immensely to increase the boldness of their sympathizers, who have hitherto remained passive non-combatants. If these were to see the occasion for a successful stroke, there is no doubt that great accessions to the insurgent forces would be gained throughout the provinces of Havana and Pinar
del Rio, and there are grave fears that an uprising would occur in the city of Havana itself.

DECREASED REVENUES.

This Has Caused Financial Distress, Says Sherman.

REMEDY IS TO INCREASE THEM

They Must Be Made Large Enough to Meet Expenditures and Provide for Mutual Wants—Money Should Be Borrowed to Meet Current Deficiencies.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Mr. Sherman's speech, which had been anticipated with much interest for some time, initiated a hot financial discussion in the senate. The veteran senator was in good voice, and his speech was closely followed through. This, however, was merely a prelude to an unexpected financial controversy, vigorous and personal in character. Mr. McKim of West Virginia sought to secure an immediate vote on his resolution directing that all bond issues be advertised and the bonds offered to the public. Mr. Hill attempted to have the resolution referred to committee, but on a roll call the vote was overwhelming in favor of proceeding with the question. Only six negative votes were cast, viz: Chilton, Caffery, Hill, Mitchell (Wis.), Murphy and Brice. Mr. Hill spoke vigorously against the resolution. He asserted that Mr. Sherman, when secretary of the treasury, had made bond contracts with New York syndicates similar to the one now assailed. This brought on a sharp personal debate, in which Mr. Hill, Mr. Sherman, Mr. Hoar, Mr. Teller and others participated. Mr. Sherman contended that the bonds were advertised for 30 days, the public taking them, among the buyers being certain New York bankers.

During the day Mr. Morrill, from the finance committee, reported that the tariff and bond bills would be ready on Tuesday, to which day the senate adjourned. Senator Sherman's speech was devoted to the treasury deficit, its cause and cure. Mr. Sherman began by asserting that, while Congress would support the president in maintaining the honor and integrity of our country in the field of diplomacy, it will not approve his recommendations on the more important subject of our financial policy, and especially of our currency. "The president," said Mr. Sherman, "has mistaken the case of our present financial condition in attributing it to the demand for gold for United States notes instead of the legislation of the last Congress. He places the effect before the cause. He proposes as a remedy the conversion of the United States notes and treasury notes into interest-bearing bonds, thus increasing the interest-bearing debt nearly $500,000,000. He proposes a line of public policy that will produce a sharp contraction of our currency, add greatly to the burden of existing debts and arrest the progress of almost every American industry which now competes with foreign products.

"The only difficulty in the way of an easy maintenance of our notes at par with coin is the fact that during this administration the revenues of the government have not been sufficient to meet the expenditures authorized by Congress. If Congress had provided the necessary revenue or if the president and Mr. Carlisle had refused to expend appropriations not mandatory in form but permissible so as to confine expenditures within receipts, they would have no difficulty with the reserve."

Mr. Sherman read from a table showing the receipts and expenditures each year from 1866 to 1893 and continued: "Now for the first time since 1866 we have deficiencies of revenue. Since the first of March, 1893, to the first of December, 1893, the national debt has been increased $162,692,245. The president in his recent annual message complains that the law of October 3, 1890, known as the McKinley act, 'was inefficient for the revenue.' That law, though it largely reduced taxation by placing sugar, yet did not reduce revenues below expenditures, but provided a surplus of $37,299,762.57, June 30, 1891, and $9,914,453.96, June 30, 1892, and $3,341,074.29 on June 30, 1893. That the McKinley act did not produce more revenue in 1893 and 1894 is not a matter of surprise. Any tariff law denounced by the party in power, with a promise to repeal it, and to reduce duties, would prevent importations under the old law and thus lower the revenue."

"I have a statement showing the receipts and expenditures under each law, each month, the McKinley law from its passage to the election of Cleveland, and the Wilson law from its passage to Dec. 1, 1895. During the 25 months of the McKinley law the average surplus was $1,129,821. During the existence of the Wilson law the average monthly deficiency was $4,699,693."

Mr. Sherman then entered into a comparative analysis of the McKinley and Wilson laws to show that under the latter we exported in a year agricultural productions valued at $301,578,885, while during the last year of the McKinley law we exported similar productions valued at $371,125,299. "President Cleveland," he continued, "believed in large importations at the lowest cost without regard to the industries and labor of our country. I have not been satisfied with any tariff law made during my public life, though I have shared in framing many. I prefer a law that will impartially protect and encourage all home industries, and regard the McKinley law as infinitely better than the Wilson law, which I believe is the cause of all the evils which we now encounter by adverse balance of trade, by exportation of gold and derangement of our monetary system."

Mr. Sherman continuing, declared that the deficiency of the revenue was the primary cause of the demand for United States notes, and that the only remedies are either radical reduction of expenditures or an increase of taxation, or perhaps both.

Senator Sherman then read from Secretary Carlisle's report to show that prior to 1891 the demand for coin for United States notes during a period of 13 years, from July 1, 1879, to July 1, 1892, was only $43,310,896, while the receipts of gold for United States notes during the same period amounted to $160,000,000. The withdrawals from the treasury from July 1, 1892, to Dec. 1, 1895, have amounted to $360,266,512. "During the first term of Mr. Cleveland," he continued, "when he was powerless to affect our currency and tariff policy, the senate being Republican, the gold increased from $240,000,000 on the first of April, 1885, to $320,000,000 on the 1st of April, 1889. This gold came into the treasury without cost in exchange for United States notes or gold certificates.

"In view of these official facts, can any fair man doubt as to the cause of our financial condition? What other cause can be stated than that unwise legislation reduced our revenues below our expenditures, impaired confidence in our ability to maintain our currency at par and compelled the government to sell bonds provided for the redemption of United States notes in order to meet deficiencies?"

"The two defects in existing law relating to redemption are mentioned by the president. First, that the notes presented for redemption must be reissued. It seems from the newspapers that he has found the power to hold notes redeemed until they can be exchanged for coin, a discovery that he should have made sooner. Second, that the resumption fund is a part of the general balance in the treasury and may be applied to current expenditures.

"Notes once redeemed should only be reissued for gold coin, and such reissues should be mandatory when coin is deposited in the treasury. With this provision of law the scarcity of currency would create such a demand for it that gold will be freely deposited in exchange for the more portable and convenient notes of the United States. The resumption fund should be segregated from all other moneys of the United States and paid out only in redemption of United States notes. With such provisions in the law the resumption fund could not be invaded to meet deficiencies in the revenue. They should be provided for by bonds or certificates of indebtedness of small denominations at a low rate of interest, which would be readily taken by the people through national banks, sub-treasuries and postoffices. As the term 'lawful money,' includes gold coins there is a disposition by timid banks to convert their United States notes into coin, thus aiding in depleting the redemption reserve. This ought to be prevented by a provision of law that the bank reserve of lawful money shall be United States notes or treasury notes only. The resumption fund is the safeguard of the money of the people and its use for any other purpose is a practical repudiation of the public faith.

"The president complains that the notes are presented and paid, reissued and paid again and again, making a continuous circuit. When did this circuit commence? The only answer is when this administration, supported by the last Congress, created a deficiency. Why does the circuit continue? It is because the deficiency continues. The government resorts to the financial policy of Micawber. It gives its bonds and thinks the debt paid. But the circuit continues. The money received for current revenue is paid to cover deficiencies and is returned for gold and then more bonds. The secretary hopes that in two or three years there will be no deficiency. What is the ground for this hope? Is it that a new administration will provide more revenue, and then the circuit will be broken? Why not apply the remedy now?"

"If deficiencies occur Congress should immediately supply the means to meet them, and Congress and not the administration must be the judge of the mode and manner of relief. The president is of the opinion that the United States notes and treasury notes should be retired and give place to bank notes. This is a question for Congress to decide. It is certainly not of this administration. It was the last Congress of that opinion. I believe that under existing law the aggregate sum of United States notes and treasury notes issued under the act of 1890, amounting to about $460,000,000, can be easily maintained at par with coin if the two amendments I have mentioned are adopted by Congress."

Utah Made a State Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The president today at noon issued his proclamation in conformity with the act of Congress, stating that the people of Utah have complied with all of the requirements of the law providing for the admission of Utah to the Union and declaring that the territory has passed out of existence and that Utah is admitted to the family of states. The new state's officers will begin the discharge of their functions next Monday.

A House Session of Five Minutes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The session of the house lasted five minutes. The chaplain offered prayer, the journal was read and approved, a message was received from the senate and then the house adjourned until Monday next.

ARBITRATE OR FIGHT.

An English Journalist Interprets This as Our Ultimatum.

SAYS ENGLAND HAS NO CLAIM.

After Declaring the Schomburgk Line Has No Standing, He Dissects American Public Opinion—His Correspondence Covertly Warns Salisbury.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The special commissioner of the London Daily Chronicle, who is in Washington, and who has caused a sensation by publishing hitherto unknown correspondence, wiping out the Schomburgk line and annihilating England's claim, sends the following important dispatch: "President Cleveland's message to Congress has done several things, good and evil. First, it has destroyed every chance of saving the Armenians. Second, it has given a strong impetus towards closer ties between Great Britain and her colonies. Third, it has enormously emphasized the line of difference between east and west in the United States. The west today regards the east as practically a European annex and New York bankers as allies of the 'money sharks' of Europe. Fourth, it has rendered certain the creation of a great American navy. Fifth, it has paved the way for better future relations, because Americans having experience of the consequences will cease their ignorant denunciations and the Englishmen will learn to show much greater respect to American national opinion. Finally, the message has rendered possible the avoidance of a far vaster danger, namely, a war over the Nicaragua canal, because this question will settle the relation of the United States to South American republics."

"However, the Schomburgk line is now proved destitute of any quality of permanence, and it therefore remains to consider the situation as effected by its removal. I can affirm positively that the American government is above everything anxious for arbitration. The intention of President Cleveland's message was amicable. The Monroe doctrine is not worth discussing. The fact is, that if Venezuela does not come within the four corners of the Monroe doctrine, then the new doctrine, the Olney doctrine, covers it, and American opinion overwhelmingly favors its general principles. Moreover, America demands arbitration as a sacred right, and for this she will fight if needful. 'I am astounded at the depth and character of American feeling on this question. Men experienced, staid, elderly, conservative, many holding judicial positions of great responsibility, frankly declare their uncompromising support of this American doctrine. England is foolish to think that the American government would permit his political advantage. 'Now, how shall arbitration be reached? The best way of all would be for Lord Salisbury to come to an arrangement direct with Venezuela. The cabinet here would much prefer this course and Venezuela is willing. 'The second method is, if Lord Salisbury will say he believes the commission fair and competent to consider the historical question, and ask if the American government would permit him to name British commissioners to join it, without committing himself to abide by the result. I can assert that the cabinet would instantly welcome the proposal. 'Third, if the commission investigating concerning the territory which England is willing to arbitrate about, will England submit the greater question to this commission."

"There is a fourth method. If England is willing to lay her case before the commission without prejudice, America will be very glad to receive the documents. It is impossible to see how Lord Salisbury can refuse, and equally impossible to see how, having acceded, he can wholly disregard the finding. Here, again, arbitration appears the inevitable and natural result. By declining arbitration in any shape, Lord Salisbury is courting for England the ill will of two continents. Most weighty of all, and this is my serious but confident conclusion, if he does, the American people will consider fighting for arbitration as fighting for peace."

WAR MONEY NEEDED BADLY.

The Board of Ordnance and Fortifications Pleads for Necessary Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The secretary of war has sent to the house the fifth annual report of the board of ordnance and fortifications for the year ending Oct. 31, 1895. The estimate of funds required for experiments and expenses the ensuing fiscal year is placed at $245,000. The work of providing a proper armament for our harbors, says the report, is progressing steadily and the rate appropriations have been made during the last ten years it would take at least 50 years to place our sea coast in proper condition of defense. Constant annual appropriation should be made until our ports are properly protected. Such an expenditure, says the report, will be a wise insurance against the sacrifice of many of our most important cities, which would reasonably occur in ten days' time of war in our present condition. In closing, the board urges that a definite annual appropriation for sea coast fortifications and armament be made, and to that end earnestly recommends that $2,000,000 be appropriated for engineer work in the construction of necessary works; also that $5,000,000 be appropriated for the construction of guns, mortars, gun-carriages, sea coast armament and ammunition.

Unintentional Tribute to White.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 4.—One of the professors who was in attendance upon the session of the American Economic association in this city, said he hoped President Cleveland would leave Andrew White off the commission, because Mr. White is strongly in favor of the application of the Monroe doctrine and in favor of the stand taken by President Cleveland.

A Prominent Clergyman Dead.

The Maccabees will entertain on Monday evening by a pie social. None but members are invited.

It is stated today that almost if not all the potteries will be in operation on Monday with full forces.

It is said that two clerks in a prominent business house will soon wed. Both parties are popular young people.

The Buckeye club will give a stag party tonight. The event will be one of those feasts of reason so characteristic of the club.

The Audobon club last evening entertained in honor of Pearce Dunbar, of Steubenville, who is the guest of W. J. McKinney.

Reverend O'Meara will conduct services at St. Stephen's tomorrow, he having returned from a pleasant visit to Canada.

Complaint is made that the culvert over Carpenter's run in West End is without protection, and if someone should fall over the city is liable for damages.

None of the physicians are now complaining of lack of business. There is a great deal of typhoid fever in the city, and the diseases of winter are rampant.

The aid society of St. Aloysius church had a pleasant evening at the temperance rooms last evening. Refreshments were served, and the time spent in a delightful manner.

Mrs. Jean Jester, wife of the engineer at the Standard pottery, was surprised by a party of friends at her home on Third street last evening, and the time was spent very pleasantly.

The ill wind which caused John Rinehart heavy loss this morning, brought financial good to some of the saloons on Second street. People who were cold and chilled patronized them liberally.

Miss Sarah Denniss, of Washington street, fell on the slippery pavement this morning and injured her back. She was unconscious for a time, and is still suffering from the effects of the injury.

While aiding in the unloading of a heavy piece of machinery at the News Review this morning Pressman John Powell had one of his legs painfully wrenched. Manager Palmer suffers from a similar injury.

Lineman Deidrick has been at work for several days repairing patrol and fire wires that were torn from their fastenings by the wind. The bell on city hall did not sound this morning, but it was not the fault of the wire, for the bell was frozen up.

Heber Davidson, of Broadway, was skating in East End yesterday when the ice broke, and he dropped in water to his shoulders. Companions aided him to solid ground, and he suffered nothing more than the inconvenience of a ducking from the accident.

A skiff passed the city this morning with one occupant, the man apparently dying a signal of distress. He seemed to have lost an oar, and could not get to shore. There was no one to help him, it is said, all the river front being in attendance at the fire. Last night was probably the coldest of the season. Before 6 o'clock thermometers in different parts of town were registering at zero, and later in the evening it had fallen below that mark. This morning it had grown no warmer, but after the sun came out there was a rise above the zero mark.

Broadway was the scene of a runaway late yesterday afternoon. Mail Carrier Bevington was making the rounds with his horse and cart, when the animal, usually docile and amiable suddenly darted up the street at a made pace, reaching Lincoln avenue before it was stopped. The axle and shaft of the cart was demolished, but the horse was unhurt.

James Douglas and Miss Lena Malone were married today, this being the third day set for the wedding. The young people would have been married several weeks ago, but the mother of the bride died in California hollow, and there was a postponement. Another wedding day was set, but again death intervened, and the event was deferred. The wedding this evening will be a quiet one.

The case of Marshal Wyman has not ceased to agitate some of his opponents, who declare that he was not legally elected. One councilman holds that the law allows two courses, and one of these were adopted, while another declares that the marshal cannot draw his salary as deputy because there is no provision for the salary of a deputy marshal. However, that defect will probably be remedied at the next meeting.

The river is falling and full of ice. It was very cold on the stream last night, and many boats were tied up. The ice now running is heavy, and in anticipation of the stream closing a number of boats have tied up at good landings. If the cold snap continues the river will soon be closed. The Virginia is due from Pittsburgh this evening, but local rivermen fear it will not get as far as this city.

ON HIS EAR.

The artist has endeavored to depict an angry and dissatisfied customer. He came to our store afterward. He has just left a rival establishment. We would like to show his picture when leaving us, but the smile on his countenance would be too expensive to illustrate in a single column. Why not always smile? It's so easy. Simply buy your clothing of Geo. C. Murphy and the seamed and wrinkled forehead of discontent will exist only in imagination. Also see our holiday line of neckwear, silk mufflers, fur and plain top kid gloves, silk umbrellas, silk suspenders, etc., at lowest prices known. See our Smoking Jackets.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE.

right there, if the house was a house of ill fame, under any circumstances, unless sent there by his superior officers. So every effort was made to prove Ann Houser, who admitted she was a vile and abandoned woman on the 2d of November, was, on Nov. 6, a pure, good, Christian woman. Attorney Brookes, it is said, made the most eloquent address ever heard in the court house. If that was the most eloquent one, I pity the others. Attorney Brookes was paid for his work; but it seemed to me like point blank sacrifice to compare infamous Ann Houser with the truly repentant Magdalene of the Bible. Good Christian Councilman John Peake was spell-bound; he opened his mouth as well as his eyes; possibly that was caused by his being hungry; or perhaps he was thirsty.

"Jason, the eloquent, during the trial of Long John Whan, asked me if John Whan was the prominent official I had referred to some time since? I told him he was not. Then Attorney Brookes said that I and my committee dared not go for the high official, for some reason or other, and we knew we must go for some one, so we went for poor Long John Whan, and in the most imperative manner he demanded to know the name of that official. Some weeks since, I went to the official I referred to. I told him Ann Houser had charged him with frequenting her place and being a customer of hers. I told him I had an affidavit, signed by the witnesses she told it to, and that I was ready to help him prove his innocence if he would prosecute Ann Houser, and that the witnesses were ready to go into the witness box; but he refused. Jason Brookes said that the council would prove, by their verdict, whether or no the Houser woman was the witness of truth, and whether or no she was a Christian on Nov. 6. "That," said Jason Brookes, "is the point at issue." If that was so, then the council have decided that Ann Houser is the witness of truth. On Nov. 6, the very date which council passed judgment upon, Ann Houser made the charges against the city official; her word has been accepted by council; now what about the truth of her statement, made to two reliable witnesses on Nov. 6, about said official, one of the most prominent in the city? I wish to announce, on behalf of my committee, that the affidavit shall be placed in the hands of Dr. Taggart, the president of the League, and as Jason Brookes has demanded the name of the city official, he shall be shown the affidavit on application to Dr. Taggart. Then he will be at liberty to make known to the public the name of the official he has demanded, and if the official denies the charge, then let Attorney Brookes champion truthful Ann Houser, the victim of Huckle; the modern Magdalene, and compel this official to admit that as council has already decided that Ann Houser is the witness of truth, he must be mistaken. Jason Brookes says everybody is hurt by these charges and the man must be known. Come along, Jason, name your man. Has anybody been hurt? Well, if they have, it is simply a foretaste of what is to follow if a change from evil does not take place.

"Now, beside these cases, two other girls who were living abandoned lives have left the town, and in a certain place of business where immoralities of the grossest nature took place, the proprietor was made aware of the facts and the evidence given him which prove to him we were right; the principal in these immoralities has been discharged.

"In another case, a man who has been leading a vicious life has signed an affidavit that the charges I brought against him were true; he is now living a purer life and has thanked us for our work in his own case. Not two minutes walk from the rink a house has suspended its immoral trade, and two other women have given up their bad practices; so that I think we can claim to have accomplished a deal of good in six weeks.

"There is just one other point I wish to touch upon, and that is the screen ordinance. Although the ordinance covers every other day, it does not cover the Sabbath, and that, I think, all will admit is most important. It is imperative we should be able to see into the saloons on Sabbath, for we know numbers of the saloonists break the Sabbath and we demand that an ordinance be passed by council, covering the Sabbath day. Now friends, we must carry on this good work. Make the spring primaries your battle ground; be determined to have clean men in office, men who will enforce the law in its integrity. You have implored your officers to do right in the past, and they must admit they have miserably failed. Then take the matter to God in prayer. Send up your prayers to heaven and your votes for clean men into the ballot box.

"Not two months since, a prominent official of East Liverpool stated, in the presence of four reputable citizens, that he got $50 for the part he had in securing the passage of the ordinance altering the time of closing the saloons from nine to eleven. That official has no sense of shame; but when he again runs for office he will be taught that the citizens of East Liverpool have a sense of honor and justice, and will try quits with a man so lost to honor. I wonder how much the liquor men will put up this spring election? Will there be any snug amounts laying around, say $50 each? Of course not a single member of council allowed the liquor men to put up any money for their expenses; oh, no, that would be impossible. The members of council are most innocent, and would never allow such a thing to take place. Anyway, we will see to it this next spring that the men of our choice shall not soil their hands with the filthy lucre running from the bar room of the saloon."

Reverend Huffer, of the Christian church, then made a brief and happy address, claiming his right, as a good citizen, to fight for pure social life and the observance of law and order, in the pulpit and outside of the pulpit. He claimed his right to stand shoulder to shoulder with all good citizens, and in direct opposition to saloon keepers, plug uglies, gamblers, prostitutes and keepers of houses of ill fame. The speaker's address won him warm friends in his audience—it was practical, bold, courageous, eloquent and full of snap, and, best of all, full of aggressive Christianity, as pitied forever and aye against illegality and vice of every kind and character, and when he sat down he was the recipient of involuntary, spontaneous, hearty applause. We are sorry that the reverend gentleman's address cannot be given in full. Summing up, he related the story of the Quaker who was badgered, insulted and bullied by a notoriously tough character, who finally undertook to maltreat and chastise the man of meekness, but was amazed to find himself beneath the Quaker's knee, emphatically pressed into his chest, while the thumb of 'thee and thou' made painful impressions back of the ruffian's ear, and the victor thus soliloquized: "Friend, I am a man of peace. I will not smite thee, I will not strike thee; but I will render thee very uneasy." "We may not strike these saloonists and other law-breakers," said the reverend gentleman, "but, God helping us, we will make them very uneasy."

Reverend Huston made a few closing remarks, a liberal sum was subscribed for the prosecution of the good cause, and the audience was dismissed with benediction.

Rev. John Lloyd Lee was unavoidably absent from the meeting, but afterwards met with the committee engaged in the work and spoke warm words of encouragement, asserting that the cause is a noble one, with right and truth back of it, and it must succeed.

THEY TALKED BUSINESS.

The Board of Health Did Some Work Last Night.

All members of the board of health were present at the meeting last night, with the exception of Mr. Chambers, who is ill at his home in East End. A communication was received from Doctor Probst asking that a delegate be sent to the meeting of the state board Jan. 30, and Doctor Ogden was chosen. The following bills were paid:

Doctor Ogden for 22 days $330; expense investigating quarantine, $3; vaccine, $40; telegraphing, $2.75; guards, $84; J. T. Kitz, $50; cats and dogs, $3.80; W. W. pharmacy, $3.05; printing, $8; Eagle Hardware, $4.55; Union Planing mill, $20.

The report of the health officer showed there were 16 births and 20 deaths during the month. Over 500 people have been vaccinated, and 100 have applied since the supply of points was exhausted. Doctor Ogden and Mr. Goodwin reported their visit to Wellsville, and said it was decided there to ask Doctor Probst to keep strict watch at Martin's Ferry. Mr. Thomas supported Doctor Ogden's bill, and it was unanimously ordered paid. It was decided to keep guards on duty at the Mercer house until all danger was over, and Doctor Ogden was instructed to order more vaccine at once. The presence of typhoid fever was discussed, and a resolution passed asking Doctor Probst to make the strongest kind of a quarantine at Martin's Ferry.

Hurt in a Wreck.

Saved His Life

Years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., recognizing the fact that consumption was essentially a germ disease, and that a remedy which would drive the germs and their poisons from the blood would cure consumption, at last found a medicine which cured 98 per cent. of all cases, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease.

The tissues of the lungs being irritated by the germs and poisons in the blood circulating through them, the germs find lodgment there, and the lungs begin to break down. Soon the general health begins to fail, and the person feels languid, weak, faint, drowsy and confused.

This is the time to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; it drives the germs and poisons from the blood, and has a soothing effect upon the dry cough. In cases of bronchitis the "Discovery" is invaluable. "Golden Medical Discovery" increases the amount and quality of the blood, thus invigorating and fortifying the system against disease and builds up wholesome flesh and strength after wasting diseases, as fevers, pneumonia, grip and other debilitating affections.

Jno. M. Hite, of Audubon, Audubon Co., Ia., says: "I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs and chest, and I suffered intensely with it. I tried several of our best physicians here and they gave up all hopes of my recovery, and thought I would have to die. I was greatly discouraged when I began the use of the 'Discovery.' I soon got on my feet. It has been five years since I took it and have had no return of that trouble since."

COMPLAINING BITTERLY.

Some One is Stealing the Doctors' Signs.

Physicians having offices in a prominent building uptown are complaining because some unscrupulous individual makes a practice of tearing down their signs. There is no excuse whatever for it, neither can the man be located, but the signs are torn down almost as fast as they are put up. The doctors propose to have the nuisance stopped if possible, and will have the party arrested and punished should they be so fortunate as to locate him.

The great majority of men and women, of even very much more than ordinary intelligence, pay no attention whatsoever to the well established rules governing the preservation of health. Simple symptoms of indigestion or slight disarrangements of the stomach or system are treated by them as trivial happenings, having no weight or bearing upon their general health. In this seeming neglect or too much over confidence in their own robustness lies the greatest mistake of their lives, as it is invariably from these little ailments giant chronic diseases spring. To guard fully against such evils, use Libby's Phosphatic Beef, Iron and Wine; the only true tonic to the stomach system, system and nerves, perfect strength and tissue producer, and new rich blood matter. Go or send for it to Alvin H. Bulger, druggist, Sixth and West Market.

PROVIDING FOR MRS. LEWIS.

The Trustees Are Looking After the Sick Woman.

The township trustees were called upon this morning to look after Mrs. Lewis, the woman suffering from typhoid who was in the burning Rinehart building. She lost all of her household effects and having no place to go was taken in charge by the trustees. They placed her in a room in the Ferguson & Hill building, and she will be attended by a nurse until she gets well. Mrs. Lewis is very ill, but is not thought to be in a dangerous condition.

Marvelous Results

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little intermission and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at the W. & W. drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.

Carlton, Cornwell, foreman of the Gazette, Middletown, N. J., believes that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy should be in every home. He used it for a cold and it effected a speedy cure. He says: "It is indeed a grand remedy. I can recommend to all. I have also seen it used for whooping cough, with the best results." Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A BIG TIME.

The Grand Army, Sons of Veterans and Relief Corps Celebrate.

The Grand Army, Sons of Veterans, and the Woman's Relief Corps spent a pleasant time last evening installing officers and enjoying a few hours as well as they knew how. Each society placed its officers in position and representatives from them made excellent addresses. The program was followed by the supper, which was a banquet of which all partook heartily. Of the very many pleasant occasions that have marked the life of these three societies there are none in the minds of the members which can equal the enjoyment and pleasure of last night.

FOR KICKING A DOG.

A Salty Dose Dealt Out in the Court of Squire Rose.

One day this week complaint was made in the court of Squire Rose that some one had whipped a dog belonging to Isaac Walters, and a warrant was issued. The man was convicted and fined $9.00 for the offense. The matter was kept very quiet until today when it leaked out, but the name of the offender is not given, though it is said to be that of a man who has frequently served on the police force as a special officer.

W. H. Gates, editor of the Ashland Press, returned to his home this evening after a visit at the residence of Prof. Will L. Thompson. The gentleman was accompanied by Mrs. Gates, the lady and Mrs. Thompson having been close friends for many years.

There is good reason for the popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Davis & Buzard, of West Monterey, Clarion company, Pa., says: "It has cured people that our physicians could do nothing for. We persuaded them to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and they now recommend it with the rest of us." Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE.

right there, if the house was a house of ill fame, under any circumstances, unless sent there by his superior officers. So every effort was made to prove Ann Houser, who admitted she was a vile and abandoned woman on the 2d of November, was, on Nov. 6, a pure, good, Christian woman. Attorney Brookes, it is said, made the most eloquent address ever heard in the court house. If that was the most eloquent one, I pity the others. Attorney Brookes was paid for his work; but it seemed to me like point blank sacrifice to compare infamous Ann Houser with the truly repentant Magdalene of the Bible. Good Christian Councilman John Peake was spell-bound; he opened his mouth as well as his eyes; possibly that was caused by his being hungry; or perhaps he was thirsty.

"Jason, the eloquent, during the trial of Long John Whan, asked me if John Whan was the prominent official I had referred to some time since? I told him he was not. Then Attorney Brookes said that I and my committee dared not go for the high official, for some reason or other, and we knew we must go for some one, so we went for poor Long John Whan, and in the most imperative manner he demanded to know the name of that official. Some weeks since, I went to the official I referred to. I told him Ann Houser had charged him with frequenting her place and being a customer of hers. I told him I had an affidavit, signed by the witnesses she told it to, and that I was ready to help him prove his innocence if he would prosecute Ann Houser, and that the witnesses were ready to go into the witness box; but he refused. Jason Brookes said, 'Is the point at issue?' If that was so, then the council had decided that Ann Houser is the witness of truth. On Nov. 6, the very date which council passed judgment upon, Ann Houser made the charges against the city official; her word has been accepted by council; now what about the truth of her statement, made to two reliable witnesses on Nov. 6, about said official, one of the most prominent in the city? I wish to announce, on behalf of my committee, that the affidavit shall be placed in the hands of Dr. Taggart, the president of the League, and as Jason Brookes has demanded the name of the city official, he shall be shown the affidavit on application to Dr. Taggart. Then he will be at liberty to make known to the public the name of the official he has demanded, and if the official denies the charge, then let Attorney Brookes champion truthful Ann Houser, the victim of Huckle; the modern Magdalene, and compel this official to admit that as council has already decided that Ann Houser is the witness of truth, he must be mistaken. Jason Brookes says everybody is hurt by these charges and the man must be known. Come along, Jason, name your man. Has anybody been hurt? Well, if they have, it is simply a foretaste of what is to follow if a change from evil does not take place.

"Now, beside these cases, two other girls who were living abandoned lives have left the town, and in a certain place of business where immoralities of the grossest nature took place, the proprietor was made aware of the facts and the evidence given him which prove to him we were right; the principal in these immoralities has been discharged.

"In another case, a man who has been leading a vicious life has signed an affidavit that the charges I brought against him were true; he is now living a purer life and has thanked us for our work in his own case. Not two minutes walk from the rink a house has suspended its immoral trade, and two other women have given up their bad practices; so that I think we can claim to have accomplished a deal of good in six weeks.

"There is just one other point I wish to touch upon, and that is the screen ordinance. Although the ordinance covers every other day, it does not cover the Sabbath, and that, I think, all will admit is most important. It is imperative we should be able to see into the saloons on Sabbath, for we know numbers of the saloonists break the Sabbath and we demand that an ordinance be passed by council, covering the Sabbath day. Now friends, we must carry on this good work. Make the spring primaries your battle ground; be determined to have clean men in office, men who will enforce the law in its integrity. You have implored your officers to do right in the past, and they must admit they have miserably failed. Then take the matter to God in prayer. Send up your prayers to heaven and your votes for clean men into the ballot box.

altering the time of closing the saloons from nine to eleven. That official has no sense of shame; but when he again runs for office he will be taught that the citizens of East Liverpool have a sense of honor and justice, and will try quits with a man so lost to honor. I wonder how much the liquor men will put up this spring election? Will there be any snug amounts laying around, say $80 each? Of course not a single member of council allowed the liquor men to put up any money for their expenses; oh, no, that would be impossible. The members of council are most innocent, and would never allow such a thing to take place. Anyway, we will see to it this next spring that the men of our choice shall not soil their hands with the filthy lucre running from the bar room of the saloon."

Reverend Huffer, of the Christian church, then made a brief and happy address, claiming his right, as a good citizen, to fight for pure social life and the observance of law and order, in the pulpit and outside of the pulpit. He claimed his right to stand shoulder to shoulder with all good citizens, and in direct opposition to saloon keepers, plug uglies, gamblers, prostitutes and keepers of houses of ill fame. The speaker's address won him warm friends in the audience—it was practical, bold, courageous, eloquent and full of snap, and, best of all, full of aggressive Christianity, as pitied forever and aye against illegality and vice or every kind of character, and when he sat down he was the recipient of involuntary, spontaneous, hearty applause. We are sorry that the reverend gentleman's address cannot be given in full. Summing up, he related the story of the Quaker who was badgered, insulted and bullied by a notoriously tough character, who finally undertook to maltreat and chastise the man of meekness, but was amazed to find himself beneath the Quaker's knee, emphatically pressed into his chest, while the thumb of 'thee and thou' made painful impressions back of the ruffian's ear, and the victor thus soliloquized: "Friend, I am a man of peace. I will not smite thee, I will not strike thee; but I will render thee very uneasy." "We may not strike these saloonists and other law-breakers," said the reverend gentleman, "but, God helping us, we will make them very uneasy."

Reverend Huston made a few closing remarks, a liberal sum was subscribed for the prosecution of the good cause, and the audience was dismissed with benediction.

Rev. John Lloyd Lee was unavoidably absent from the meeting, but afterwards met with the committee engaged in the work and spoke warm words of encouragement, asserting that the cause is a noble one, with right and truth back of it, and it must succeed.

THEY TALKED BUSINESS.

The Board of Health Did Some Work Last Night.

All members of the board of health were present at the meeting last night, with the exception of Mr. Chambers, who is ill at his home in East End. A communication was received from Doctor Probst asking that a delegate be sent to the meeting of the state board Jan. 30, and Doctor Ogden was chosen. The following bills were paid:

Doctor Ogden for 22 days $330; expense investigating quarantine, $3; vaccine, $40; telegraphing, $275; guards, $84; J. T. King, $50; cats and dogs, $3.80; W. W. pharmacy, $3.05; printing, $8; Eagle Hardware, $4.55; Union Planing mill, $20.

The report of the health officer showed there were 16 births and 20 deaths during the month. Over 500 people have been vaccinated, and 100 have applied since the supply of points was exhausted. Doctor Ogden and Mr. Goodwin reported their visit to Wellsville, and said it was decided there to ask Doctor Probst to keep strict watch at Martin's Ferry. Mr. Thomas supported Doctor Ogden's bill, and it was unanimously ordered paid. It was decided to keep guards on duty at the Mercer house until all danger was over, and Doctor Ogden was instructed to order more vaccine at once. The presence of typhoid fever was discussed, and a resolution passed asking Doctor Probst to make the strongest kind of a quarantine at Martin's Ferry.

Hurt in a Wreck.

Saved His Life

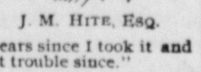

—by a fortunate discovery in the nick of time. Hundreds of persons suffering from consumption have had the progress of the disease stopped, and have been brought back to life and health by the "Golden Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce.

Years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., recognizing the fact that consumption was essentially a germ disease, and that a remedy which would drive the germs and their poisons from the blood would cure consumption, at last found a medicine which cured 98 per cent. of all cases, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease.

The tissues of the lungs being irritated by the germs and poisons in the blood circulating through them, the germs find lodgment there, and the lungs begin to break down. Soon the general health begins to fail, and the person feels languid, weak, faint, drowsy and confused.

This is the time to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; it drives the germs and poisons from the blood, and has a soothing effect upon the dry cough. In cases of bronchitis the "Discovery" is invaluable. "Golden Medical Discovery" increases the amount and quality of the blood, thus invigorating and fortifying the system against disease and builds up wholesome flesh and strength after wasting diseases, as fevers, pneumonia, grip and other debilitating affections.

J. M. HIRSH, of Audubon, Audubon Co., Ia., says: "I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs and chest, and I suffered intensely with it. I tried several of our best physicians here, and they gave up all hopes of my recovery, and thought I would have to die. I would cough and spit blood for hours, and I was pale and weak. I was greatly discouraged when I began the use of the 'Discovery,' but I soon felt better. It has been five years since I took it and have had no return of that trouble since."

J. M. HIRSH, Esq.

COMPLAINING BITTERLY.

Some One Is Stealing the Doctors' Signs.

Physicians having offices in a prominent building uptown are complaining because some unscrupulous individual makes a practice of tearing down their signs. There is no excuse whatever for it, neither can the man be located, but the signs are torn down almost as fast as they are put up. The doctors propose to have the nuisance stopped if possible, and will have the party arrested and punished should they be so fortunate as to locate him.

The great majority of men and women, of even very much more than ordinary intelligence, pay no attention whatsoever to the well established rules governing the preservation of health. Simple symptoms of indigestion or slight disarrangements of the stomach or system are treated by them as trivial happenings, having no weight or bearing upon their general health. In this seeming neglect or too much over confidence in their own robustness lies the greatest mistake of their lives, as it is invariably from these little ailments that chronic diseases spring. To guard fully against such evils use Libby's Phosphatic Beef, Iron and Wine; the only true tonic to the stomach system, system and nerves, perfect strength and tissue producer, and new rich blood matter. Go or send for it to Alvin H. Bulger, druggist, Sixth and West Market.

The Trustees Are Looking After the Sick Woman.

The township trustees were called upon this morning to look after Mrs. Lewis, the woman suffering from typhoid who was in the burning Rinehart building. She lost all of her household effects and having no place to go was taken in charge by the trustees. They placed her in a room in the Ferguson & Hill building, and she will be attended by a nurse until she gets well. Mrs. Lewis is very ill, but is not thought to be in a dangerous condition.

Marvelous Results

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction she was brought down with pneumonia, succeeded by La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at the W. & W. drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.
